Empathy is the capacity to understand or feel what another person is experiencing from within their frame of reference, that is, the capacity to place oneself in another's position. There are many definitions for empathy that encompass a broad range of emotional states. Types of empathy include cognitive empathy, emotional empathy, and somatic empathy.

A slum is a highly populated urban residential area consisting mostly of closely packed, decrepit housing units in a situation of deteriorated or incomplete infrastructure, inhabited primarily by impoverished persons. While slums differ in size and other characteristics, most lack reliable sanitation services, supply of clean water, reliable electricity, law enforcement and other basic services.

1. Introduction. Archaeologists working in many parts of the world have already begun to address many of the "grand challenges" facing contemporary archaeology (Kintigh et al., 2014) by using landscape-scale investigations to elucidate complex relationships between climate, subsistence, and urban morphology over multiple scales of time and space.
