A hallucination is a perception in the absence of external stimulus that has qualities of real perception. Hallucinations are vivid, substantial, and are perceived to be located in external objective space. They are distinguishable from several related phenomena, such as dreaming, which does not involve wakefulness; pseudohallucination, which does not mimic real perception, and is accurately ...

Stuart, The cob is strong and sound. We did a scratch coat of plaster with straw in the mix, and then a finish coat of plaster with finely chopped straw, and I'm sure that helps structurally, but you know most cob bread ovens I believe are built the same way with a clay/sand inner layer, and in the case of this heater the cob never gets direct flame, so the stress on it is minimal ...
